

arrestedmotion

Previews: Clare Rojas @ Vladimir Restoin Roitfeld

Sleepboy

November 09, 2013

Arrested Motion

With the private opening set tonight and the public unveiling on November 11th, Clare Rojas' new exhibition is set to give her fans in New York a look at her recent abstract work. Hosted by Vladimir Restoin Roitfeld, the show will mark her return to the Big Apple with 24 new paintings and drawings from the SF-based artist that deal with "ideas of balance and harmony through color and space." Along with these pieces, she has also written three poems with will be on display.