

NEW YORK

To Do: March 26–April 9, 2014

March 23, 2014

New York Magazine

Art

6. See Tony Tasset's Artists Monument

An outpost of the Biennial, near its next home.

Tasset's massive multicolored work is a big rectangular prism etched with the names of 392,486 artists. They range from Matisse to emerging talents, with all hierarchies flattened, a giant catalogue of lives lived unfiltered by curators and gallerists. It's a kind of act of faith. — Jerry Saltz Hudson River Park at 17th Street, through May 25.